Workshop on Knowledge Management.

Shri Manoj Kumar, CMD, CMPDI on 26.08.2022 inaugurated the One Day workshop on,"Knowledge Management" at CMPDI (HQ), Ranchi and in his inaugural address said that in the era of global competition, a company needs not only the industrial economy to survive, but the knowledge, experience and intellectual qualities/property of the employees should be accumulated and sharing it with other employees is necessary. If knowledge sharing and accumulation is done in the right way, then in any industry, the time taken for re-generation or recreation of the completed work and its working methods can be better utilized for exploring new methods which can increase the productivity, leading to an increase in the gross profits of the industry. He further said that by sharing the knowledge, experience and intellectual qualities of our experienced, skilled and expert personnel with other employees and storing it at the appropriate place using appropriate information technology and making its access in an easy and convenient way will serve as benchmark for future generation to utilize the stored/accumulated knowledge for further research/application.

On the occasion, Shri R.N Jha, Director (Technical/RD&T), CMPDI said that knowledge management is a relevant topic in today's perspective. The aim should be to first acquire knowledge, then to accumulate and manage it. Shri S.K. Gomasta, Director (Technical/CRD/ES) said that the discovery of knowledge is a continuous process. There should be a zeal to embrace the better things/alternatives of the world in one's daily routine. This objective can be achieved through knowledge documentation.
